

PIECE OF HISTORY

It's never been a simple task to marry heritage with modernity, and even trickier to make it work aesthetically. Luckily for us, Naumi Hotel's latest venture executes them beautifully with Naumi Liora, a boutique hotel located in Chinatown. Rising from what used to be vacant lots in a heritage townhouse on Keong Saik Road (a neighbourhood which we officially declare to be the current 'It' hood), Naumi Liora is largely inspired by the Peranakan culture, and has retained some of the space's original fittings to keep things real. There are 79 rooms across three categories, and one that we ought to highlight is their Porch room, which comes with a balcony surrounded by verdant lushness and is roomy enough for an intimate party – bring champagne!

Naumi Liora is located at 55, Keong Saik Road.
